

oxygen enhanced combustion second pdf

Combustion, or burning, is a high-temperature exothermic redox chemical reaction between a fuel (the reductant) and an oxidant, usually atmospheric oxygen, that produces oxidized, often gaseous products, in a mixture termed as smoke. Combustion in a fire produces a flame, and the heat produced can make combustion self-sustaining. Combustion is often a complicated sequence of elementary radical ...

Description. Chemical looping combustion (CLC) uses two or more reactions to perform the oxidation of hydrocarbon based fuels. In its simplest form, an oxygen carrying species (normally a metal) is first oxidized in air forming an oxide.

1. Introduction. The call for emission reduction has been mandated by many governments. For past few years, it has been one of the top priorities for combustion research centers to investigate combustion processes and emission reduction methods through optimizing the engines and fuels , , .Soot modeling is regarded as an important part of understanding the process of soot formation, which in ...

1. Introduction. Diesel engines are widely used for transportation and power-generation applications because of their high fuel efficiency. However, diesel engines can cause environmental pollution owing to their high NO_x and soot emissions. Considerable effort has thus been devoted toward reducing these pollutant emissions as these have adverse effects on the environment and human health .
